COVERTACTION INFORMATION BULLETIN

LATEST ISSUE NOW AVAILABLE

The latest issue of the CovertAction Information Bulletin (Number 13, July-August 1981) has just been published. This issue focuses on Southern Africa and Central America, particularly the policies of the Reagan Administration.

Included are the following articles:

- A comprehensive review of the struggle for the liberation of Namibia, and the U.S. efforts, in collusion with South Africa and the Western Contact Group, to thwart the United Nations.
- Related articles on gun running, on South African mercenaries, on the shipments of counterinsurgency aircraft, and on the passport racket, whereby South Africans travel on other nations' passports.
- The most comprehensive analysis to date of the KKK-Nazi coup attempt against Dominica.
- Photos of the CIA officers expelled from Mozambique, and further pictures and information on the CIA-supported South African raids.
- An historical review of BOSS, the South African intelligence service.
- An overview of U.S. foreign policy on Africa, including the full text of the recently-leaked secret State Department documents.
- An update on events in Central America, focusing on U.S. involvement in Guatemala, Honduras, and El Salvador.
- Our regular columns, Sources and Methods, describing further methods of mail surveillance; Publications of Interest; News Notes, including profiles of several newly-appointed Reaganites and a note on Vernon Walters and his oil lobbying interests; and Naming Names, which this issue uncovers CIA personnel in Canada, Central African Republic, Ghana, Greece, Liberia, Malaysia, Mauritius, Nigeria, Senegal, South Africa, Sudan, and Switzerland. This research, in particular, represents the journalistic investigation of public sources which is directly threatened by the Intelligence Identities Protection Act, which is working its way through Congress.

This issue is on sale at the National Press Building newsstand, and will be in bookstores throughout Washington and the U.S. within the next several days.
